

New York shifts all drug test costs to horsemen, tracks

from the USTA Communications Department

Columbus, OH --- Bloodhorse.com is reporting that New York horsemen and tracks will pay the full costs of equine drug testing in the state, an amount that totals more than $4 million annually, under a state budget deal that was given final adoption by lawmakers late April 9.

To read the full story, click here.