

USHWA has new mobile website

by Tim Bojarski, president, USHWA

Akron, NY --- As people continue to move away from their desktop computers and make their mobile phone the everyday workhorse, the format of USHWA's traditional website needed to adapt.

With that in mind, USHWA has launched m.ushwa.org, a new mobile website that formats all of our content for your iPhone or Android device and loads it for you up to eight times faster than our traditional site. This is not an app and nothing needs to be downloaded. Simply type the address in your browser and then bookmark it to your screen.

All the information and downloads you look for at the full website is now also available on the mobile site, only in a faster and more user-friendly platform.

The USHWA website you have known will continue to be where it has always been; the mobile site is simply an extension of it for mobile devices.

The organization has also put a .com domain in its stable moving forward as well. www.ushwa.com will now also take you to our full homepage.

So whether it's www.ushwa.org , www.ushwa.com or m.ushwa.org, each will take you to the USHWA site best suited for you for the latest news and information about the organization and the sport it represents.
