

Hannah Miller to represent the USA in the World Cup of amateur racing

by John Manzi, for NAADA

Monticello, NY --- When the North American Amateur Drivers Association (NAADA) joined FEGAT in the early 1980's that earned the organization the opportunity to name the American entrant in the FEGAT World Championship for Amateur Drivers or the World Cup. Although this competition started as an event every four years, it has melded into an international competition every two years.

Mike Lizzi photo

Hannah Miller is ready, willing and able to wear the red, white and blue when she competes in the amateur World Cup later this month.

NAADA, and the Catskill Amateur Drivers Club. Not surprisingly, she is the current leader in each series.

Last year when she won the National Amateur Drivers Award she had driven 32 winners, the most ever by an amateur in one season. She already has 27 wins and is on target to eclipse last season's totals.

According to NAADA president Joe Faraldo, "Hannah is the best and we're sending our best to Budapest to race in the World Cup."

Miller is no stranger to racing abroad having anchored the American Team when they traveled to Majorca last fall to race against the Spanish amateurs. And earlier she was on the American team which traveled to greater Naples, Italy, to race against their veteran amateurs.

Slated to leave for Budapest on Monday (Aug. 29) Hannah will be joined by her parents Erv and Heidi Miller, her boyfriend Nick Surick and NAADA founder and president, Joe Faraldo along with his wife Yma.

Hannah Miller, the USA's National Amateur Driver of 2015, will carry America's colors when she competes in six races against her counterparts from 13 other international countries in Budapest, Hungary beginning Wednesday (Aug. 31) and continuing until Sunday (Sept. 4).

"I'm proud and overwhelmed in being the American representative to the World Cup," Ms. Miller said. "It will be challenging for me to compete mostly against men who, for the most part, are seasoned veterans, but I look forward to the challenge and I hope I do well."

Miller is the daughter of trainer Erv Miller, the 2005 Trainer of the Year and the third-ranked trainer in terms of wins with more than 4,800. Miller is also the sister of professional driver Marcus Miller.

"Hurricane Hannah" Miller, 24, is a member of many amateur driving clubs including, the Billings Series,